Examiner's course analysis

Based on the course evaluation result - which are the strengths of the course?

An oral evaluation was made at the end of the course and there were sort of mixed comments. See below. The written evaluation with only three answers is though a bit hard to draw conclusions from, but the result was rather good judging from this and the oral evaluation, with reference to students not reading the course documents thoroughly and over-interpreting words. The set-up seems to have proceeded well with some improvement suggestions highlighted below. It was found very positive with the discussions and that there were seminars instead of traditional lectures. In addition, the formation into international groups was positive and with the group-project in working with real areas. It was also positive with different groups at the lectures. The division with a theoretical part and a practical part was appreciated.

Based on the course evaluation result - which are the weaknesses of the course?

Students raised different questions but most of them related to not reading instructions thoroughly. Besides this, students taking part in supervision was extremely low in comparison with previous years. Some suggestions for development (which highlights some weaknesses in the course) were to oversee the structure and for example have a separate folder for literature relating to each theme and overall review the information structure on Blackboard.

Comments about the collaboration with the course ambassadors

None agreed to be CA so dialogue has been taking place with the course-members in class.

Conclusion and suggestions for course development or already made decisions

The instructions for theoretical summary can be improved further, although improvements and changes was made for this year, but a major problem this year was students not reading instructions or asking questions. Changes made from previous years seem to have been good though. The major challenge seems to make students ask more questions when insecure and really read the course information.
