Examiner's course analysis

Based on the course evaluation result - which are the strengths of the course?

There is little information in the course evaluation about the strengths of the course. It appears to have been considered an interesting course that shows a new perspective on design.

Based on the course evaluation result - which are the weaknesses of the course?

There is little information on the weaknesses of the course. Some aspects that are mentioned is that there is a lot to do during the last week of the course, and that the literature is extensive and difficult.

Comments about the collaboration with the course ambassadors

There have been no course ambassadors, however, we've had a continuous dialogue during course activities and supervision. Student Health was also involved as external support for the group work, and communicated with the groups.

Conclusion and suggestions for course development or already made decisions

Because it is so difficult to draw conclusions from the little data that has come from the survey, and attendance in the course was so low, we are unable to conclude any changes from the survey. We will, however, consider revising the timeline for the home exam or the group project at the end of the course for the next time. There is no better literature available, so changes to the literature cannot be done at this time.

Other comments

There were only 8 respondents out of 29 (27%), and only a very few, short free-text comments. This makes it very difficult to draw any conclusions from the survey. The comments also do not fully explain some of the low scores (e.g. the 0 point on social study environment). The teacher team also experienced the attendance to be very low during the course, with an average of 15 participants at each activity, and sometimes fewer. Because so many chose not to participate in several course activities, many did not get the support that was available for doing the course work, which naturally also affects the experience of the course.
