Lab assignments need some preliminary sources and the submission deadline could be extended

More introductory materials for the lab assignments will be provided. Deadlines will also be extended.

Other comments

Note that there are some contradictions between some student comments. Although some students enjoyed the lab assignments, there were some who really hated them. It is also weird that although we have a dedicated week to explain the basics of PyTorch, they are still asking for introductory materials for PyTorch. This is mainly because some students do not attend the course every week, do not follow materials, but just complain. Not acceptable!
