Examinators kursanalys

Vilka styrkor har kursen?

The overall satisfaction grade was at 80% which means that, generally, the course was appreciated. There were no particular strengths or weaknesses lifted from the surveys (similar average grade) however I remark that course design and structure had 2 clear maxima at 3 and 5, suggesting 2 contrasting opinions.

The main strengths were the lectures and enthusiasm/energy of the teacher, the ability to get support when needed, and the aim of the course with respect to the target audience. A close second were the lab sessions and how they contributed to an understanding of the lectured material. Third was the variety in learning materials provided to help pass the course.

Vilka svagheter har kursen?

As stated, the surveys did not provide much insight into what the main weaknesses were. The lower maximum on course design was possibly elaborated on in the open-text answers with comments referring to the speed and short time of the course; and the mixed languages of lecture slides and oral presentation. Many stated the course was too fast and did not enable enjoyment or maximise learning. Aside from these were small details pertaining to the lecturer's style - poor handwriting for example.

Slutsatser samt eventuella förslag till kursutveckling eller beslut som redan fattats

I will pay more attention to the requests of students to have the teaching in only one language. This year I decided against oral presentation in Swedish for personal reasons – it is thus my fault – but it is my intention to make the course fully Swedish.

I will try to raise a discussion with those who run tekniskt basår to see if we can extend the time allocated to the chemistry course, though I suspect that achieving this will be highly unlikely.

Generally, I will continue to build on what was done right – right aim, content, structure – but try and design it even better for the short time we have on this course.

Övriga kommentarer

The response rate was 40%, which means it is hard to know whether the results are fully representative. The comments are always appreciated, but how generally applicable they are needs to be questioned. Otherwise, it must be assumed that the students that did not respond either have no strong opinions or were satisfied.
