Examiner's course analysis

Based on the course evaluation result - which are the strengths of the course?

The clear standout for this course is the examination process, which earned a high satisfaction index of 79%. A majority of students (59%) felt the exams gave them a great opportunity to demonstrate what they had learned. Additionally, the social study environment was a strong point (74% index) which seems the students actually enjoyed each other's company, which is a favorable sight for any teacher in any academic setting.

Based on the course evaluation result - which are the weaknesses of the course?

The course design and pedagogy. With an index of 62%, it's safe to say it wasn't everyone's cup of tea. Ironically, while some were happy, 35% gave the pedagogy the lowest possible score. It seems the extensive lecture materials and literature of a single book were not so popular failing to help some reach learning outcomes.

Comments about the collaboration with the course ambassadors

Since only about 32% of the class actually bothered to fill out the evaluation, we don't know much. It's a bit of a head-scratcher that the exam satisfaction was so high while the lectures felt like not great for some.

Conclusion and suggestions for course development or already made decisions

The overall satisfaction index sits at a respectable 70%, so we're NOT exactly back to the drawing board. Since 82% of students felt the workload was "just right" and matched the study pace, we won't be needing reinventing the whole course structure. The real "low-hanging fruit" for next time is a new literature (given AI developments, it is understandable) and lecture slides to ensure they actually support the syllabus instead of just being a blessing in disguise for the few who "got it."

Other comments

Due to some funding cuts, we could not have guest lecturers for the course. Last year (2024) we had 4 guest lecturers and 2 responsible teachers. This time, it was a one man show! No money for nothing and I still think the feedback is quite satisfactory still. While the feedback we received is very useful, the 32.08% response rate (17 out of 53 students) means we are only seeing part of the picture. For future iterations, it might be worth exploring ways to increase student participation in the evaluation process to ensure the data is as representative as possible.
