Examiner's course analysis

Based on the course evaluation result - which are the strengths of the course?

Students really seemed to vibe with how the course was structured, especially when it came to the exams. They mentioned that preparing for the paper actually felt "refreshing" and pushed them to spend hours really thinking and reading, which is exactly what you want to see. It clearly hit the mark in giving them a new, important perspective on AI that they usually don't get elsewhere. The high satisfaction scores—like the 90% index for the exam—really back up that the students felt they had a fair shot to show what they learned.

Based on the course evaluation result - which are the weaknesses of the course?

Some students felt like they were left wanting more interaction. There was a specific call for more debates and discussions with both their classmates and the lecturer, suggesting that the current setup might feel a little bit isolated at times. Some also mentioned that the meetings felt a bit too short to get deep into the topics. This is due to the fact course is 3 credits in total and asking more than reading material goes beyond the credit limit IMHO.

Comments about the collaboration with the course ambassadors

Not much or any specific mention of the course ambassadors or how that collaboration went. With a response rate of only 17%, it might be a good idea to lean on the ambassadors a bit more in the future to help get the word out and encourage more students to share their thoughts.

Conclusion and suggestions for course development or already made decisions

Probably worth looking into how to bake more discussion time into the schedule or even extending the meetings slightly to allow for those debates students are asking for. Definitely keep the current exam format since it was such a hit, but see if there's a way to make the lecture files downloadable so they're more accessible.

Other comments

One interesting takeaway is that half the students felt they spent less time on the course than the official pace suggested, yet they still felt they achieved the learning outcomes. Also, while the social environment got a high score, a lot of people just had "no opinion," which makes sense for a remote course like this one.
